

Exhibit 36. Number of hours per week scheduled for mathematics and science teachers. U.S. teachers are scheduled for far more hours per week than their counterparts in Germany and Japan. [This exhibit displays the number of in-class instructional hours for which mathematics and science teachers in the U.S., Germany, and Japan are scheduled. Items measured in periods were converted to hours using reported average length of a period.]

